Chapter 337: The Divine Guardian of History

Sung Jin-Woo sat in the grandeur of the Umbra Citadel, his divine mind contemplating the role of history in shaping the multiverse. To ensure that the knowledge, achievements, and sacrifices of the past would never be forgotten, he decided to create a Divine Guardian of History, a being tasked with recording, preserving, and sharing the chronicles of all realms.

The Creation of the Divine Guardian

Using the Jewel of Creation embedded in his chest, Sung Jin-Woo gathered the finest energies of time, memory, and wisdom from the Absolute Realm. A brilliant sphere of light formed in his hands, pulsating with the essence of infinite knowledge.

He spoke, his voice resonating across the multiverse:
Sung Jin-Woo: "From the essence of memory, wisdom, and truth, I bring forth a guardian to protect the history of all that has been and all that will be."

From the light, a figure emerged—a tall, radiant being with a graceful yet powerful aura. The Divine Guardian stood at 12 meters tall, adorned in shimmering robes of gold and silver, with wings that shimmered like starlight. Its eyes glowed with a soft golden hue, reflecting the wisdom of countless lifetimes.

Name: Chronos-Lumen, the Eternal Archivist.

Abilities of Chronos-Lumen

1. Chronicle of Eternity: A divine tome capable of recording every event, from the smallest moment to the grandest battle, across all realms.

2. Temporal Vision: The ability to witness and replay past events, ensuring that no detail is ever lost to time.

3. Memory Sanctum: A pocket dimension where all knowledge is stored, accessible only to the Divine Triad and their trusted allies.

4. Restoration Insight: The power to reconstruct lost knowledge or events from fragments of memory.

5. Universal Knowledge Sharing: The ability to communicate historical insights to followers, priests, and leaders across realms to guide their development.

Chronos-Lumen’s Role

1. Preserver of History: Chronos-Lumen ensures that the deeds of the Divine Triad, their allies, and all civilizations are immortalized.

2. Teacher of Wisdom: It serves as a mentor to leaders, providing historical lessons to guide their decisions.

3. Guardian of Legacy: Protects the Memory Sanctum from any force seeking to alter or erase the past.

4. Observer of the Multiverse: Monitors events across realms to maintain the balance of history.

The Memory Sanctum

Sung Jin-Woo created a magnificent sanctuary within the Absolute Realm, dedicated to the preservation of history. Known as the Memory Sanctum, it was a massive, crystalline library filled with ethereal scrolls, books, and orbs of light containing memories of every realm.

Chronos-Lumen was entrusted with its protection and maintenance, ensuring that future generations could access the wisdom of the past.

A Symbol of Unity

Chronos-Lumen was introduced to the realms during a grand ceremony held in the Absolute Realm. Leaders and representatives from all races, from the Shadowkins to the Dragonkins, gathered to witness the birth of the Eternal Archivist.

Sung Jin-Woo addressed the assembly:
Sung Jin-Woo: "The past is the foundation of our future. Through Chronos-Lumen, we shall remember every sacrifice, every victory, and every lesson. Let it guide us toward unity and prosperity."

The crowd erupted in cheers, their voices echoing across the Absolute Realm.

Chronos-Lumen’s First Mission

As its first act, Chronos-Lumen compiled the complete history of the Divine Triad, the rise of the realms, and the fall of the monarchs. These chronicles were shared with the followers, worshippers, and priests across all dimensions, inspiring them to strive for greatness and unity.

Sung Jin-Woo watched as Chronos-Lumen began its duties, a sense of peace washing over him. History, he knew, was the key to shaping a brighter future, and with Chronos-Lumen, the past would never be forgotten.
